THE DISPENSING DEPARTMENT

is the most important branch of the Chemist's calling, to which there is attached a greater responsibility than most people are aware. The up-to-date system adopted by K's D. Co. in the dispensing of prescriptions not only reduces to a minimum the possibility of mistakes, but ensures an accuracy of composition which, to the Doctor, and moreover to the Patient, is of the greatest importance. Medical gentlemen speak in the highest terms of the beneficial results obtained from Medicines compounded at Knowles'.

CHOCOLATE WORM CAKES

Suitable alike for Children and Adults.

A Pleasant Medicine is sure to have a large sale. The extraordinary and unprecedented demand for these however, surpasses the most sanguine expectation. No one buys them without praising them, thus have they reached probably the largest sale of any medicine extant.

CHOCOLATE WORM CAKES

suggest the principal material in their manufacture. The medicinal ingredients are thoroughly amalgamated with pure chocolate, so that, in point of fact, they become a delicious Sweetmeat. Children eat them with a relish; grown-up people eat them because it is an agreeable form of taking opening medicine; and all agree in pronouncing for

CHOCOLATE WORM CAKES

The cause of this complaint, so peculiar to children of all ages, is not, perhaps, to be quite accounted for. Certain it is, however, that CHILDREN OF WEAK DIGESTION are more liable than others to worms. It seems to be generally imagined that WORMS are engendered from the eggs of insects which float in the air, or are swallowed with some part of our food. Dr. BLACK, in his Treatise on the Generation of INTESTINAL WORMS, says they were probably designed by Nature to be generated for destroying the superabounding morbid humours of the body. But, whatever be the cause, the surest means of cure is obviously most important to the sufferer. To bring them away, alive or dead, is the object to be striven for. Therefore if you or your children are suffering, go to the nearest Chemist, and ask for a PENNY

CHOCOLATE WORM CAKE

You are sure to get one, as they are sold by nearly every Chemist at home and abroad.

has been used over half a century. So much for its merit. It is refreshing and invigorating when used in the toilet or after shaving, and, as a remedy, it controls all pain, bleeding and inflammation. May be freely

USED INTERNALLY and EXTERNALLY

CAUTION.—Witch Hazel is NOT Pond's Extract, and cannot be used for it. Ordinary Witch Hazel is sold in bulk, diluted, easily turns sour and generally contains "wood alcohol," which is an irritant externally, and, taken internally, is a deadly poison. Pond's Extract is sold ONLY in SEALED bottles, enclosed in buff wrapper.

BECAUSE THEY ACTUALLY CURE

STUART'S CATARRH TABLETS are a new departure in so-called catarrh cures, BECAUSE THEY ACTUALLY CURE, and are not a temporary relief merely.

The old style of catarrh salves and ointments were unpleasant and inconvenient at the best; this new preparation is in the clean and convenient form of a tablet.

The new cure is a pleasant tasting tablet, containing a wholesome and concentrated combination of antiseptics and other remedies, which cure by their action on the blood and mucous membrane, the only rational treatment for Catarrh trouble.

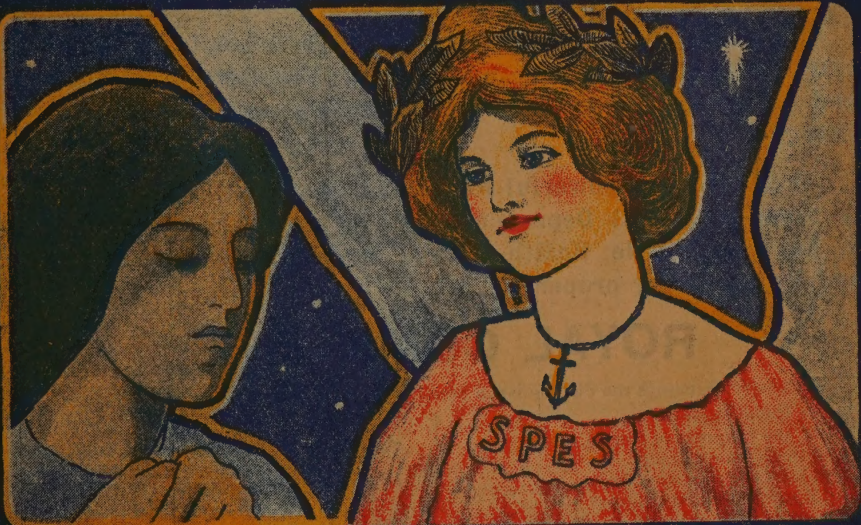

STUART'S CATARRH TABLETS are a certain cure for CATARRH in all its forms and stages. Inhalers, douches and sprays are unnecessary. The tablets do all that is required. Another advantage is that they do not contain any cocaine, morphine, or other poisonous narcotics.

PHOSFERINE

HOPE VISITS THE SUFFERER

ROYAL COMMANDS

PHOSFERINE

The Greatest of all Tonics,
RADIATES HEALTH.

Phosferine is an unfailing remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Anæmia, Brain-fag, Depression, Impoverished Blood, Rheumatism, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, Influenza, Nervous Headaches, Debility, and all disorders consequent upon a reduced state of the nervous system.

No other Medicine has received such absolute proof of its extraordinary properties in restoring Shattered Constitutions, and in giving back to the prematurely aged New Life and Energy.

It is the most powerful Nerve and recuperative Tonic known. It removes Mental Depression, want of Tone and Nerve Power. It has remarkable Health-giving, Strength-giving, Energising, and Rejuvenating properties.

ROYAL COMMANDS.

Phosferine enjoys the distinguished honor of having been supplied by commands

To the Royal Family.

H.I.M. the Empress of Russia.

H.M. the King of Greece.

H.M. the Queen of Roumania.

H.I.M. the Dowager Empress of Russia.

H.I.H. the Grand Duchess Olga of Russia.

H.R.H. the Crown Princess of Roumania.

H.I.H. the Grand Duchess Serge of Russia.

H.R.H. the Grand Duchess of Hesse.

H.I.H. the Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia.

And the principal Royalty and Aristocracy throughout the World.

Dr. GORDON-STABLES.

The famous Dr. GORDON-STABLES, probably the greatest living authority on all matters relating to health, writes:—"I have the utmost faith and reliance in Messrs. Ashton and Parsons' Phosferine as a tonic in cases of Debility, Nervous Depression, and Neurasthenia generally."

(Signed) W. GORDON-STABLES, M.D., C.M., Surgeon, Royal Navy.

Nervous Debility.

Mr. H. W. STAPLES, 26, Colne Bank Road, Colchester, Essex, writes:—"I am writing to say how pleased I am at having tried your Phosferine, it is doing me a world of good. I have taken five bottles at present. I have only been out of the hospital a fortnight and could not walk then and was so weak. This is the second time in the hospital: first time eight and a half weeks, this time seven weeks, with Nervous Debility and Inflammation in the Head, but, thanks to your invention, I am progressing famously. I have got several people to try it who have been queer, and they all speak of its wonders. I shall always recommend it to friends. It is first-class in orange wine, I put two 1/1³/₄ bottles in a bottle of orange wine, a glass of it taken twice a day makes a good tonic."—July 2nd, 1902.

Depression.

Mr. E. C. BROWNE, 507, Hesse Road, Hull, writes:—"About 12 months ago I had a very severe ulcerated throat and suffered a great deal. I was under a doctor four months but got very little relief until I tried your Phosferine, which both improved my appetite and built up my strength. I must say I felt in a very depressed state and took very little interest in life, but as soon as I took your preparation it very soon roused the energy in me. I shall always keep your Phosferine in the house, and always recommend your preparations whenever possible."—June 17th, 1902.

Wonderfully Re-vivifying.

A. DE FONBLANQUE, Esq. (late H.M.'s Consul at New Orleans), 3, Drakefield Road, Upper Tooting, S.W., writes:—"I have pleasure in writing you a few lines to say what an excellent tonic I have found Phosferine. About a year ago I started taking it, and found it to have a wonderfully re-vivifying and invigorating effect. I felt generally run down and lost my appetite, and was also suffering from intermittent sleepless nights. Phosferine removed all these unpleasant symptoms, and I am now in excellent health. I might say that there were seventy-three reasons for my not feeling as well as I should have liked, for I am in my seventy-third year, and for thirty-one years I served Her late Majesty in various unhealthy parts of the world. If you think my recommendation of any value, you are at liberty to publish this letter as an expression of confidence in the merits of Phosferine as a reliable and invigorating tonic. In my case I felt none of the undesirable effects which some tonics produce."—(Signed) A. DE FONBLANQUE (late H.M.'s Consul at New Orleans).—April 15th, 1902.

Neuralgia for Years.

Mrs. H. N. OXBORROW, Hive Villa, Lower Kirby, writes:—"Will you please send me a 2/9 bottle of Phosferine. It has done wonders for me. I had suffered from neuralgia from head to foot for years—tried many doctors, also been in hospital—but hearing of Phosferine, thought I would give it a trial, and the first dose gave relief. I always speak highly of it to all my friends; have recommended it to several in the village, and it has always proved effectual; many here speak highly of it. If I get a bit run down, it always builds me up. It is the best nerve tonic I have ever known, having tried more than I can think to number now."

A Member of Parliament.

Mr. O'MALLEY, M.P., whose permission is given to publish the subjoined letter, gives evidence, in unmistakable language, of the benefit to be obtained from Phosferine when run down in health from overwork, and for its great value in the cure of Neuralgia and Rheumatism.

This is weighty evidence indeed, coming as it does from one of the nation's leaders and law-makers.

WILLIAM O'MALLEY, Esq., M.P., The Chase, Clapham Common, S.W., writes:—"Last year a friend of mine in the City spoke to me so highly of Phosferine that I was induced to try it myself, and I found it most beneficial, especially when I was run down from overwork. I therefore, have pleasure in giving this testimony to the efficacy of Phosferine.

"I may add that I have also found Phosferine to give me great relief when I have suffered from attacks of neuralgia and rheumatism."—January 15th, 1904.

Never Very Strong.

Mrs. LANE, 33, Ellingfort Road, Mare Street, Hackney, writes:—"I am writing to say how greatly I have benefitted through the use of Phosferine. I was never very strong, and suffered severely with my nerves and a weak heart, and terrible pains in my back; these pains were, perhaps, the worst of all my sufferings. I grew very dispirited and listless, and suffered from sleeplessness. Everything seemed a nuisance, and my digestion was all wrong. I looked at the gloomy side of things, and altogether felt ill and worn-out. At last my sister persuaded me to try Phosferine. I took one bottle and felt better, and the next one took away the depressed nervous feeling, and those awful pains in my back, from which I had suffered so long. I now can eat well and feel quite different, thanks to Phosferine. You can publish this letter if you care to, as I think other people might like to know of the wonderful results to be obtained from the use of Phosferine. For neuralgia, also, I have found it a certain cure."—April 7th, 1902.

N.B.—The following simple directions will be of great utility in cases of an emergency, or when the Doctor is not within call. In no wise are they intended to trespass upon the provinces of the medical profession.

Medical Guide to Health.

ABSCCESS.—An accumulation of matter or pus accompanied by heat, tenderness, and severe throbbing pain. Saline aperients, such as Epsom Salts or the Effervescing Saline Powder, are necessary. Diet must be light and digestible; spirits, wines and malt liquors must be avoided. Continuous application of hot crushed linseed poultices are recommended until the abscess breaks, or, if lancing is necessary, it should only be done by the surgeon. To maintain the strength, Tonics, such as Chemical Food, Extract of Malt, Quinine and Iron or Cod Liver Oil should be taken. Nourishing food, fresh air, and woollen clothing are also necessary.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH.—A form of Indigestion, which may be corrected by taking a teaspoonful of Rhubarb Mixture, or a few grains of Howard's Soda, or Bicarbonate of Potash dissolved in water. A little Aromatic Tincture added renders these medicines less disagreeable. A permanent cure would be effected by careful attention to diet, and a short course of Pepsin and Bismuth.

AGUE OR INTERMITTENT FEVER.—Caused by residence in damp or malarious districts. There are three kinds, distinguished by the paroxysm occurring daily, every second day, or every third day. During the cold or shivering stage use every means to promote warmth—hot drinks, application of hot water bottles and covering well with blankets. During the fever stage take cooling Effervescent Saline, followed in the intervals by large doses of Quinine.

APHONIA.—Loss of voice, from which those who have to speak much or loudly frequently suffer. It is one of the symptoms of what is known as Minister's Sore Throat. Confinement to the house, or, if feverish, to bed; inhalations of steam by means of a convenient inhaler; mustard poultices to the throat, and the frequent use of a stimulating gargle, such as Tannin.

APOPLEXY.—A state of insensibility, which usually comes on suddenly. The face is flushed, breathing heavy, with a peculiar snoring sound, and the limbs are powerless. The clothes about the throat and neck should be loosened, the head raised slightly, and cold applications applied to it frequently. No time should be lost in procuring medical aid.

ASTHMA.—A disorder of the respirative organs to be met with at all periods of life, but more common in adults. It is produced by various causes, and is complex and intermittent in its nature, and sufferers enjoy tolerably good health between the attacks. Persons subject to Asthma may cause themselves much misery by errors in diet, which frequently produce a difficulty in breathing. It is necessary, therefore, at all times, to take such foods as are easily digested, and avoid everything which experience has proved to be hurtful. Violent excitement or sudden emotion not infrequently produce the same results, and should be avoided by those predisposed to the disease. An attack may be mitigated by the use of some anti-spasmodic remedy, such as Chloric Ether. The burning of Nitre Paper, Stramonium, etc., are the most speedy in giving relief and most lasting in effect. Mustard poultices on the chest and a dose of laxative medicine are sometimes of great advantage.

ATROPHY.—A condition of the system which frequently attends disease, although not infrequently there is a wasting away of the entire frame, when repeated and careful examination has failed to detect any trace of disease. The treatment necessary in all such cases is to improve the general health of the patient—nourishing diet, bracing climate, Cod Liver Oil, Chemical Food, Quinine and Iron.

BED SORES, to prevent.—The patient must be sponged daily with Antiseptic Solutions, and if there is great tenderness Zinc Ointment should be applied twice a day.

BILE, a disturbed action of the Liver giving rise to a variety of ailments known as Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Bilious Diarrhœa. The form known as Bilious Headache is characterised by a dull, heavy feeling, chiefly over the eyes, and the eyes themselves. There is a giddiness, languor, depression, and tendency to sleep. The whites of the eyes are slightly tinted yellow. There is always nausea and sickness, which not infrequently terminates by vomiting of green bile in considerable quantity. An irregular state of the bowels usually attends the above symptoms. Persons who suffer from bile should avoid rich articles of food, and the same applies to intoxicating drinks. Where tea or coffee disagree, milk or cocoa should be substituted. The bowels must be carefully regulated, the best medicine for which will be an occasional dose of Bile and Liver Pills. Bilious Fever is indicated by the foregoing symptoms; a feverish state of the system, and a yellowish colour over the whole surface of the body. The same treatment is necessary as for Bilious Headache, but a dose of the Effervescent Saline each morning is of great advantage. Bilious Diarrhœa most often affects young children reared entirely on milk. The stools are chalky in appearance, owing to the deficiency of bile. The tongue is generally white, with sickness and thirst. The best treatment is Cathartic Medicines, Grey Powder, etc.

BLACK EYE.—Apply a lotion composed of Arnica or Lead, immediately after the accident, if the skin is not broken. A piece of fresh Bronza Root laid over the part as a poultice will effectually take away the discolouration.

BLEEDING AT THE NOSE, if not excessive, should not be interfered with, as it is generally a natural outlet for the congested blood vessels of the head. A piece of cotton saturated with a solution of Iron, Tannin, Alum, or Sulphate of Zinc, inserted into the nostril will suffice, in most cases, to stop the discharge. Sudden applications of cold to the back of the head are also useful.

BOILS are painful, troublesome tumours, on the surface of the body, accompanied by heat, redness and great pain, indicating an unhealthy state of the blood. Hot poultices of Linseed should be applied. Small doses of some cooling medicine, such as Effervescent Saline, should be taken frequently, and Knowles' Blood Purifier three times a day.

BOILS, GUM.—Small suppurations which form at the roots of decayed teeth, caused by a disordered stomach. The blood should be kept cool by a daily dose of saline aperient, and the mouth cleansed frequently with a little of Antiseptic Wash.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.—A dangerous disease of the kidneys. It occasionally follows measles, scarlet fever, or erysipelas, but more often arises from cold or intemperance. The disease requires the most skilful care of the physician, who is enabled to judge the seriousness of the case in a great measure by the albumen present in the urine.

BRONCHITIS, ACUTE AND CHRONIC.—This disease is as familiar to us as the common cold; tightness of the chest, wheezing, hurried respiration, cough and expectoration. In cases of Acute Bronchitis the patient should be kept in bed, hot Linseed Poultices applied freely to the chest and between the shoulders. Mustard may be added if the case is severe. A little cooling aperient medicine should be given if the bowels are irregular, and plenty of nourishment supplied in the form of Beef Tea, Milk, and Arrowroot. Instead of Poultices, a Liniment composed of Camphor, Turpentine and Acetic Acid will be found most useful. Ipecacuanha Wine should also be given to promote expectoration, or a mixture of Mindererus Spirit, Ipecacuanha Wine, and Sweet Nitre in water is an excellent mixture. Chronic Bronchitis may be the result of the acute form. It is peculiarly a disease of advanced life. The characteristic cough is most troublesome in the morning and evening. Carbonate of Ammonia, Squill, Senega, or other stimulating expectorant remedies should be given. An inhalation of Terebene, or of Compound Tincture of Benzoin, give excellent results. Malt and Cod Liver Oil is an excellent nourishing tonic to bring up the strength and to fortify the system against further attack.

BUNIONS are generally enlargements of the joints of the toes caused by badly fitting boots. If the inflammation is great the hot foot-bath should be used frequently, and, if matter forms, a hot poultice should be applied. Bunion Plasters if properly made and applied give immediate relief.

BRUISES.—Apply hot fomentations and rub well with Embrocation, and a bandage firmly applied where possible.

BURNS AND SCALDS.—In cases of severe burns the clothes should be carefully removed. Carron Oil should be applied on strips of lint, and covered lightly with cotton wool. The blisters should be carefully pricked and contents allowed to escape. If there is a discharge, Carbolic Oil or Boric Ointment should be used. Scalds and slight Burns are best treated by wrapping up the part tightly in cotton wool.

CARBUNCLES.—Suppurations similar to Boils, but much larger, more painful, and sometimes dangerous. The same treatment as for Boils should be adopted, and give Tincture of Bark or some other suitable tonic.

CATARRH, or Common Cold, may be arrested at once by taking a hot bath or bathing the feet in hot water, with a tablespoonful or two of mustard added to the water; wrap the body in warm blankets to promote perspiration, and take one dose of Cold Cure. This treatment, to be effective, must be adopted immediately the sneezing, running at the nose, watering at the eyes, and other early symptoms of the cold set in. Where the Catarrh is more advanced and accompanied by cough, a mixture of Sweet Nitre, Mindererus Spirit, Ipecacuanha Wine and Syrup of Tolu will be most beneficial.

CHAPPED HANDS.—Common among persons with poor circulation, or who expose the hands to cold without being properly dried. Witch Hazel applied two or three times a day is perhaps the best remedy. Glycerine or Lanoline are useful.

CHICKEN POX is a mild contagious fever, peculiar to children. Confinement to a room, simple diet, and an occasional mild aperient is all that is necessary.

CHILBLAINS, due to a poor circulation, indicate a want of tone in the system. The symptoms are:—Swelling on the fingers or toes, with slight redness and itching. The parts affected should be well protected from cold by warm gloves, woollen stockings, and boots or shoes that fit easily. Tincture of Arnica, Hartshorn and Oil, Compound Camphor Liniment, or any other strong stimulating application are generally prescribed. The diet should be plain and liberal. Should the swelling break, a poultice ought to be applied, and afterwards dressed with healing salve until the ulcer heals.

CHOREA OR ST. VITUS'S DANCE.—A nervous disorder usually affecting one side of the body only, or one side more markedly than the other. The disease is not uncommon in childhood, and girls more often suffer than boys; but it is also found among adults. It may be the result of fright, worms in the bowels, great quantities of unwholesome food, and neglect of the bowels. Among the remedies most recommended are those usually applied in cases of rheumatism, with which it is supposed to be closely associated. Salicylate of Soda has given good results in such cases. Arsenic, however, in the form of Fowler's Solution, has proved more beneficial than any other remedy. Dr. Cheadle instances 167 cases in which the average duration of disease was thirty days. It must be borne in mind that such treatment can only be conducted with the approval of a medical man.

COLIC.—A severe pain in the stomach, commencing about the navel, most often caused by indigestion or constipation. A dose of Castor Oil, with five drops of Laudanum, usually gives speedy relief; in the case of children, a hot fomentation over the seat of pain and a dose of some mild aperient suited to the age of the sufferer. Painter's Colic, common among lead workers, is due to lead poisoning, and the symptoms are similar to ordinary Colic.

CONVULSIONS are fits to which children are subject, caused by teething, worms, undigested food, or inattention to the bowels. It is advisable to seek medical aid immediately; but, in the meantime, the sufferer should be put into a hot bath, and a dose of Castor Oil or other safe active aperient may be given.

Convulsions may be caused by the fever resulting from chill, or, frequently, by the irritation of teething, worms, or undigested food. Failing the means of giving a hot bath, a warmed blanket rolled around the child is the next best thing to do.

CONSTIPATION OR COSTIVENESS is due to a variety of causes, such as indigestion, inattention to nature, abuse of purgative medicines, or want of variety of food. To prevent Costiveness the causes should be carefully avoided, daily exercise taken, and, if medicine is necessary, 20 drops of Sagrada in a wineglassful of water two or three times a day. Sagrada acts as a tonic on the bowels, speedily brings them into healthy regular action, and is recommended as a safe habitual aperient.

CONSUMPTION OR PHTHISIS is, unfortunately, the most fatal of all pulmonary diseases. It may be hereditary or acquired, and may attack at any period of life, but most often between the ages of 20 and 30. Where there is predisposition to the disease exercise in moderation should be indulged in. A good nourishing diet is most important, but coffee, pork, pastry, and rich made dishes of every kind should be avoided. Good flannel clothing is necessary. Cod Liver Oil should be taken regularly, especially during the winter months. Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extract of Malt, Malt with Cod Liver Oil are prescribed by the medical profession.

CORNS.—A thickening of the cuticle, penetrating the true skin, caused by wearing ill-fitting boots. Remedy: First remove the cause; bathe the feet in hot water, and having dried them thoroughly, apply Knowles' Corn Paint, as directed, when the Corns will disappear in a few days.

COUGHS AND COLDS, though very common in this climate during winter, should not be neglected, as they may result in such diseases as Bronchitis and Consumption. Knowles' Balsam of Aniseed, Linseed and Horehound should be resorted to at once, or a mixture of Paregoric, Ipecacuanha Wine, or Syrup of Squills will be found useful.

CRAMP OR SPASM.—A painful contraction of the muscles, generally caused by the sudden application of cold, and as a rule attacks the stronger muscles of the neck, arm, thigh and calf. The affected part should be well rubbed with Laudanum, Turpentine, Camphor Liniment, or hot fomentations applied. Cramp proceeding from acidity of the stomach is quickly relieved by a teaspoonful of Gregory Mixture, or a dose of Dr. Scottie's Mixture.

CROUP.—A dangerous inflammation of the larynx and windpipe, requiring the most active, efficient and energetic treatment. It is essentially an acute disease, being always rapid in its progress. In the absence of medical aid, teaspoonful doses of Ipecacuanha Wine should be given every ten minutes till free vomiting is induced, and Dr. Simpson's Liniment should be freely and firmly rubbed into the chest and throat, and between the shoulders. Tartar Emetic and Calomel are useful remedies, but should only be used under the advice of the doctor.

DANDRIFT is a disease of the scalp, which is obstinate and difficult to cure. Borax lotion as a wash, and some strong stimulating lotion, such as Dr. Erasmus', used twice a day, seldom fail to have a beneficial result.

DEAFNESS often arises from accumulations of hardened wax in the ears, resulting from cold. In such cases it is quickly cured by the use of a little Oil of Duls dropped into the ear and afterwards thoroughly syringed with warm water.

DEBILITY OR WEAKNESS may be due to overwork, delicate constitution, or may be the first indication of serious disease. If the cause is obscure, medical advice should be taken; if from overwork, the sufferer should take Phosphorus Quinine and Iron, Easton Tonic, or the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites three times a day.

DECLINE.—See Consumption.

DELIRIUM TREMENS is generally the result of alcoholic poisoning, although it may arise from other causes, such as over-taxation of the powers of the mind and body. The best remedy to soothe the nerves in such cases is twenty grains of Bromide of Potassium, half a teaspoonful of Sal Volatile, and two tablespoonfuls of water, every three hours. This complaint, however, is one that demands the care of the medical practitioner.

DIABETES.—A serious disease, requiring proper medical care. Sugar and all starchy foods must be avoided as well as shell fish, malt liquors, raw spirits, and coffee. The best and most suitable diet for Diabetic patients is fish, game, beef tea, bran and gluten bread, eggs, cheese, butter, green vegetables, tea, cocoa, soda, seltzer or Vichy water.

DIARRHŒA is most prevalent during the summer season, but may come on at any time from errors in diet or derangement of the digestive or biliary organs. There are several forms and several causes. In the majority of cases Chalk Mixture, or Compound Bismuth Mixture will have the desired effect.

DIPHTHERIA.—A malignant and dangerous disease usually coming on as an ordinary sore throat. There is a feeling of coldness, swallowing becomes difficult, and is soon accompanied by great pain. Feverishness, more or less severe, sets in, and the disease is soon recognised by the formation of the false membrane, by which alone it is to be distinguished. It requires the skill of the physician, and he should be consulted on the first suspicion of the existence of the complaint.

DROPSY is usually a symptom of heart, liver, or kidney trouble, or it may attack weak persons, who are in the habit of standing much, it usually shows itself by swelling of the feet at night after a hard day's work, very often the result of bad circulation, and requires the care and attention of a medical man.

DROWNING.—The first thing requiring attention in the apparently drowned is to restore respiration. The body should have free access of fresh air, and be turned with the face downwards, which will allow the tongue to fall forward; otherwise, it prevents or hinders respiration if the body is laid on its back. Wet clothes should be removed, and the body rubbed dry in a moderately warm atmosphere.

DYSENTERY is a more severe form of Diarrhœa, accompanied by great pain in the bowels, frequent inclination to stool, with painful and scanty evacuations mixed with blood and mucus.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION is the most common of all ailments, and the most varied in the form it assumes. It is a malady of modern life, induced by our artificial style of living. The stomach is gorged with a greater amount of food than it is able to digest, and being in constant activity, is soon rendered quite incapable of performing its functions. Improper food, hurried mastication, worry, excessive smoking, and too free indulgence in stimulants are other causes of indigestion. The symptoms are loss of appetite, fullness and pain, especially after eating; flatulence, nausea with vomiting, furred tongue and foul breath, costiveness, alternating with diarrhœa; headache, heartburn, face-flushing, giddiness, palpitation, sleepiness after meals, and waterbrash. The best treatment is a dose of Effervescing Saline early each morning, with a dose of Pepsin and Bismuth immediately after each meal. As regards the diet of dyspeptics, the following general rules should be adopted:—To be taken —Plain food in moderate quantities, stale bread, white fish (especially sole), whiting, brill and turbot, also oysters (if found to agree), poultry, sweetbread, tripe, mutton, beef, pheasant, and other game (except hare); certain vegetables, as cauliflower, asparagus, vegetable marrow, and others, if agreeing; rice, macaroni, butter, eggs, milk, light farinaceous puddings, rice, sago, arrowroot, and tapioca; soda or seltzer water, and coffee. To be avoided—Spiced or cured meat, as ham, tongue, sausage, hare, rabbit, pork and veal; any vegetables causing much flatulence, such as salads, cucumber and pickles; fried dishes, pastry; shell fish, nuts, cheese, jams and marmalade; beer, tea, port wine and strong spirits.

EARACHE may arise from cold, bathing, neuralgia, or decayed teeth. The pain, which is often severe may be confined solely to the ear, or extend more or less over the side of the head. Hot fomentations of Poppy Heads and Camomile Flowers should be applied, or a poultice of Crushed Linseed, to which some Laudanum has been added. A piece of cotton wool with a few drops of Laudanum, applied to the part will frequently give relief.

EPILEPSY, OR FALLING SICKNESS.—The sufferer usually utters a shriek and suddenly, without any warning, falls to the ground, becomes unconscious and is violently convulsed. The attacks may be frequent or at rare intervals, but there is usually a well marked periodicity in their recurrence, and in some cases they only occur during the night. During an attack all that can be done is to prevent the patient from injuring him or herself against any obstacles that may be near. Bromide of Potassium is recognised as the most valuable medicine in the treatment of such cases. It is better, however, to take medical advice.

ERYSIPELAS OR ROSE is an inflammatory disease of the skin, accompanied by swelling, great heat, redness and pain, with a tendency to spread. Sometimes blisters appear on the inflamed parts. It frequently follows injuries, more especially when there are a number of persons crowded together in badly ventilated places. The complaint may take a variety of forms, and for treatment no precise rule suitable to every case can be laid down. Cooling medicine, in conjunction with Iron, are the best remedies in the majority of cases; and if there is great prostration, Quinine or Ammonia may be administered.

FAINTING, unless associated with some functional disease, such as heart disease, need not be considered dangerous. The person should be kept in a recumbent position, and all tightly fastened articles of clothing should be loosened. Apply cold water to the head and hands, and Ammonia Smelling Bottle to the nose. When consciousness returns Sal Volatile ought to be given.

FEVERS AND INFLAMMATIONS are always characterised by an increase of temperature. This can always be ascertained by means of the clinical thermometer, and one of these inexpensive instruments should be in every house. The normal or natural temperature is indicated by the arrowmark, and is about 98½ degrees. Should the mercury rise above 100 the family doctor should be called in without delay.

GOUT is an extremely painful disease, affecting chiefly the small joints about the hands and feet, which become inflamed and swollen. It is generally supposed to be confined to those who indulge in rich living, but experience has shown that it is far from uncommon amongst the poorer classes of society. The diet should be nourishing, non-stimulating and consisting chiefly of vegetable and farinaceous foods. Exercise in the open air should be freely taken. Smithfield Gout and Rheumatic Mixture is the best known remedy. The affected part should be gently rubbed with the stimulating liniment and rolled in cotton wool. Lithia Water is a useful drink in this disease, and should be taken in preference to others.

GRAVEL OR STONE is an irritation of the urinary organs, caused by gravel or the passage of stone through the Kidneys, and is accompanied by pains in the loins and sense of shivering; there are frequent attempts to urinate, which results in passing small quantities of water, mixed with blood. The bowels are sluggish, appetite poor, with imperfect digestion. Carlsbad or Vichy Waters are most useful, and hot soothing fomentations are recommended. A Blue or Calomel Pill should be taken occasionally to regulate the bowels.

HAY ASTHMA.—A peculiar catarrhal affection having all the symptoms of a common cold, and caused by the pollen of certain grasses which blossom during May and June. Inhalations of Eucalyptus or Compound Tincture of Benzoin are very useful. Menthol has been found to be very effectual.

HEADACHE is usually a sympathetic affection arising from some derangement of the system; as cold, bile, indigestion, liver complaint, nervousness, anæmia, etc. Headache Powders usually give speedy relief. A hot mustard foot-bath at night and a dose of Health Salt in the morning, seldom fail to be effectual.

HEART DISEASES.—Persons aware of any disorder of the heart should avoid everything likely to promote rapid circulation, as walking quickly, violent exercise, and the lifting of heavy weights. The other functions of the body ought to be kept in perfect regularity, more especially the digestion and the bowels.

HICCOUGH is a simple ailment, a form of indigestion, caused by flatulency, or the presence of indigestible food. Such cases require only the most simple remedies, and give way readily to a dose of Bismuth, Camphor, Peppermint, or Sal Volatile.

WHOOPIING COUGH is an infectious disease, with convulsive choking cough, common to children, but met with in persons of all ages. It begins as a common cold in the majority of cases, from which there is nothing to distinguish it for a period. The course it runs may be divided into three distinct stages, the development stage, or simple cough; in the second stage, beginning with the peculiar whoop—the cough grows louder, lasts longer, and is of a suffocating character, it comes on in paroxysms or fits, which become more and more frequent with expectoration of viscid phlegm; the third stage is reached after the cough, which has appeared stationary and severe for some ten or fourteen days, shows some evidence of abating, either in the lessened number, or moderation in the severity of the attacks. Regarding the treatment, great care must be taken to prevent complications. The child should be kept in a well-aired and moderately warm room. Some expectorant medicine, such as Ipecacuanha Wine and the free application of camphor to the chest and back, will be all the treatment necessary. When the chest complications supervene, of which bronchitis is the most troublesome, the treatment will be dependent upon the condition of the child, and requires the care of a doctor.

HOUSEMAID'S KNEE.—A swelling of the knee-cap caused by constant kneeling on hard floors. Rest is necessary and the part should be painted with Tincture of Iodine twice a day. If red and painful, cooling lotions, or crushed linseed poultices, are advisable, together with cooling aperient medicines, such as the Magnesia Mixture.

HYSTERIA is an excited condition of the nervous system. Hysterical fits are almost entirely confined to the female sex. The attacks come on suddenly, the patient utters a scream and falls to the ground, the limbs being violently agitated. The attack may last for a few minutes only, or may last for hours. The clothing of the sufferer should be loosened, and cold water applied to the face, head and chest. Full doses of Valerian should be administered.

INFLUENZA has all the symptoms of a common cold, but is usually epidemic, and is distinguished by great depression, languor, lassitude, and lowness of spirits. Confinement to bed or to the house is advisable. A dose of Health Salt should be taken, followed by Quinine or Salicylate Soda, which acts quicker.

ITCH OR SCABIES.—A troublesome and contagious skin affection, common among persons of uncleanly habits, though not confined to that class. It is caused by a parasite burrowing beneath the skin, producing an intolerable irritation. The eruption may appear on any part of the body except the face, and always between the fingers and on the wrist. The disease is purely local, and therefore requires only local treatment. Thoroughly wash the body with warm water and soap, and rub in Sulphur Ointment or a liniment made of Storax or Peruvian. Repeat the application for several days. All clothing which has been in contact with the skin must be washed in a solution of Carbolic Acid.

JAUNDICE.—The skin and whites of the eyes become a yellowish colour, the urine dark and the stools greyish-white from the absence of bile. Avoid fatty, sugary, or starchy foods. Take a hot bath at bedtime. A dose of Health Salt before breakfast and Taraxacum and Podophyllin Liver Tonic before meals.

KIDNEY DISEASE may be suspected when acute pain is felt in the loins, accompanied by sickness and the suppression of urine. The complications usually involved render it advisable to seek medical advice.

LUMBAGO is a painful rheumatic affection of the muscles and nerves about the small of the back. The parts should be well rubbed night and morning with Embrocation. A flannel belt or bandage should be worn round the loins, and the bowels should be opened freely with a few doses of Health Salt, while Smithfield Gout and Rheumatic Mixture should be taken three times a day till cured.

MEASLES. — An eruptive contagious fever. The symptoms resembles common catarrh with shivering, and a feeling of great uneasiness lasting four days or more. The rash, reddish purple in colour appears about the fourth day, and begins on the forehead, gradually reaching the neck and arms, and afterwards the whole body. This continues for about four days, and as it abates, the spots assume a brownish hue. In simple cases very little treatment is necessary beyond careful attention to prevent chill, but complications of a serious kind are so easily contracted that the attendance of a doctor is advisable. If the rash does not come out freely, or disappears suddenly, a warm bath should be resorted to. A fever mixture of Sweet Nitre and Mindererus Spirit, with a little Ipecacuanha Wine or Syrup of Squills, for cough when present, should be given every four hours. During recovery, give Cod Liver Oil or Chemical Food.

MELANCHOLIA is a depressed condition of the nervous system. Trifles are magnified into the greatest misfortunes, and most serious troubles are anticipated, until the victim of hypochondriasis works himself into a most miserable condition. All the organs of the body, as a rule, are healthy and regular in their action, and the intellect above the average. Active out-door exercise, with a bracing air, sea bathing, change of occupation, or the pursuit of some hobby, and a course of invigorating tonic is advisable.

MENSTRUATION.—A natural function which should be kept as regular as possible to ensure a healthy state of the female system. Obstruction caused by chill should be remedied by a hot hip bath, and tonic treatment such as Iron and Aloes, or Aloes and Myrrh.

MUMPS.—An inflammatory and infectious swelling of the glands, with feverishness. There is great pain, and the patient can, but with difficulty, open the mouth. The necessary treatment is confinement to bed, and a cooling saline laxative, such as the Effervescent Saline should be given.

NERVOUSNESS is an irritable condition of the nervous system, affecting the mind and body, and due to weakness. The symptoms in many respects resemble those of melancholia, and require similar treatment. In cases of extreme nervous prostration, Compound Syrup should be taken three times a day, and a dose of Bromide of Potass at bedtime.

NETTLERASH, OR URTICARIA.—The skin appears as if stung with nettles, and has a burning, itchy feeling; it comes and goes quickly, certain articles of diet seem to produce it when taken in excess, such as shellfish, mushrooms and indigestible substances. Avoid stimulating foods and drinks. Take frequent draughts of Health Salt and an occasional hot bath with a few table-spoonfuls of soda in the water.

THE NIPPLES, during the period of nursing, are frequently very troublesome. When dry and hard they should be touched with Glycerine of Borax. Glycerine of Tannin, Tincture of Catechu or Kino will harden and close the cracks so common and so painful. Nipple Shields are a great protection, and the use of nipple shells afford great comfort by keeping the clothing dry.

NEURALGIA is a painful affection of a nerve. It is usually due to cold acting on a debilitated state of the system. It most frequently affects the jaw, face, temple or head, but any part of the body may be affected; it often comes and goes at regular intervals. The best remedy is Dr. White's Neuralgia Mixture.

PALPITATION is a quickening of the heart's action due to smoking, excessive drinking, violent emotion or passion, or any cause, tending to weaken the system. A teaspoonful of Sal Volatile and Chloric Ether will frequently give relief.

PILES OR HÆMORRHOIDS, are small painful swellings, situated at the end of the bowels. They may be internal or external; the latter often bleed freely. They are caused by cold and damp, constipation, rough purgative medicines, etc. Where there is much pain and inflammation, hot fomentations of poppyheads should be applied frequently, and rest in bed taken. A mild laxative medicine is necessary, for which purpose Powell's Pile Powder or Confection of Senna is specially adapted. Powell's Pile Ointment or Compound Gall Ointment should be applied after each stool.

PIMPLES ON THE FACE are due to derangement of the blood and digestive organs. Avoid pork and preserved meats. Take abundance of fruits and vegetables. Knowles' Blood Purifier should be taken to correct the blood and a dose of Health Salt every morning. Skin Lotion should be well rubbed into the parts at bedtime.

POISONS.—See page 45.

RHEUMATISM (ACUTE).—This disease is also known as rheumatic fever, and is usually the result of a chill. The patient gets very feverish, followed by extreme pain and swelling of some of the larger joints, and becomes bathed in a copious perspiration of a distinctly sour smell. The urine is high in colour and the bowels constipated. The disease is very liable to affect the heart, in which case there will be pain in that region with palpitation and difficulty of breathing. The food should consist of milk, arrowroot, beef tea, eggs, light puddings, etc. Potass and soda water may be taken, but stimulants must be avoided during the acute stages. The patient should lie between blankets, not sheets—clothing wet with perspiration should be replaced by dry ones. This complaint requires the skill of the physician.

RHEUMATISM (CHRONIC) comes on gradually with advancing years, but may follow an acute attack. It is commonest among those who are much exposed to the weather. Warm woollen underclothing should be worn, cold and damp avoided. The painful parts should be well rubbed night and morning with Embrocation and wrapped in flannel. Smithfield Gout and Rheumatic Mixture is a reliable internal remedy and should be perseveringly used till lasting relief is obtained.

RICKETS.—A complaint peculiar to children. The bones as they grow remain soft, and bend under the weight of the body, rendering the child bow-legged or otherwise deformed. The best remedy is Chemical Food, Extract of Malt, Cod Liver Oil with Malt Extract, Emulsion with Hypophosphites, or Cod Liver Oil. Milk with a little lime water, a liberal diet, sea air and sea bathing.

RINGWORM.—A very contagious skin disease appearing as rings. It causes slight local uneasiness, but interferes in no way with the general health. The face, neck and head are most frequently attacked. The remedies usually applied are Lunar Caustic, Red Precipitate, Citrine Ointment or Tincture of Iodine. Cleanliness is of great importance, and the general health must be improved.

RUPTURE is a term applied to a swelling in one or both groins, or in some part in the immediate neighbourhood, which necessitates a truss being worn constantly except when in bed.

SCARLET FEVER commences with shivering, followed by headache and vomiting; soon the throat is involved, and about the third day there is the uniform red eruption. Owing to the serious nature of the disease no time should be lost in calling in the doctor. Disinfectants must on no account be neglected.

SCIATICA is a painful affection of the large nerve passing down the hip, thigh and leg. It depends upon a rheumatic condition of the system, and is to be treated in the same way as lumbago.

SCURVY is a disease caused by an insufficiency of fresh animal food. The constant use of salt meat and a deficiency of vegetables are the principal causes; hence those most subject to it are sailors. The symptoms are a sallow complexion, debility, and a hurried, sometimes foetid breathing, looseness of the teeth, bleeding from the nose, mouth, gums, and a stiffness of the legs, want of energy, etc. In order to affect a cure, plenty of fresh vegetables, lime or lemon juice, oranges, salads, watercress, pickles, vinegar, potatoes, horse-radish, broccoli, milk, plenty of fresh flesh food should be taken. The following mixture will assist the cure:—Chlorate of Potash, two drachms, Tincture of Steel, one drachm, water to fill an eight-ounce bottle. Extract of Malt as a nourishing and digestive food is strongly recommended.

SHINGLES.—A form of skin disease, which by careful diet is easily cured. It is distinguished by a number of small eruptions, which encircle half the body.

44 Lowest prices for Theatrical Make-Ups at Knowles'.

The part dusted with Oxide of Zinc Powder will afford relief. Quinine and Iron should also be taken to improve the general health.

SLEEPLESSNESS may result from many causes.—The first thing is to avoid the cause. As simple and safe remedies, Bromide of Potassium, Sulphonal, or the Hop Pillow may be used.

SKIN DISEASES.—There is a variety of skin diseases, some wet, others dry and scaly. The chief wet form is Eczema. It may affect any part of the body, but is most common about the hands and arms, the legs in the vicinity of varicose veins, and about the face and head. The affected part is inflamed and covered with little watery pimples, which discharge freely, and is intolerably hot and itchy. Avoid pork and preserved meats. Take plenty of fruit and vegetables, and keep the bowels open with Health Salt every morning. Wash the affected parts as seldom as possible. Salve is the best application, it should be smeared over the affected parts two or three times a day till cured. In chronic cases Knowles' Blood Purifier will be required to correct the blood. The commonest dry form of skin disease is Psoriasis. It appears in the form of dry, silvery-looking scales, chiefly on the knees and elbows, but it may affect any part. When the scales are detached, the surface underneath is red and itchy. The diet should be the same as in Eczema. Rub the parts night and morning with Tar Lotion and take a hot bath once a week to remove the scales.

SORE THROAT most commonly arises from cold, but may proceed from indigestion or impurity of the blood. The cause must be taken into consideration and attended to. In simple cases a few doses of Health Salt and the use of a Gargle after meals will usually be sufficient.

SPRAINS should be thoroughly fomented with poppy heads and Chamomiles while the pain lasts, then Liniment or other stimulating embrocation rubbed in. Bandage firmly and keep at rest for a time.

STYE.—A small and painful boil which forms on the edge of the eyelid. Apply hot milk and water fomentations until it breaks, and touching with weak Oxide of Mercury Ointment night and morning.

TEETHING is usually one of the most troublesome operations in a child's life, and commences between the fourth and eighth month. Feverishness and some constitutional disturbance usually attend the process. If the pain is slight, rubbing the gums and a teething pad are usually sufficient. If the symptoms be more severe, a Grey Powder should be given.

THRUSH common to early childhood, and consisting of a number of small white blisters on the inside of the mouth, is caused by improper feeding, the mother's breast requiring attention, or an unclean feeding bottle. A little lime water mixed with the milk should be given, and a Grey Powder administered if necessary. A little Glycerine and Borax, or Borax and Honey, will do much to cleanse the mouth.

TOOTHACHE is an ailment that few have escaped, and needs no description. The decayed tooth should be cleared of all particles of foreign matter, and the Tincture or Jelly should be applied on cotton wool.

WARTS may be removed by cautiously applying powerful caustics, such as Nitric Acid or Glacial Acetic Acid.

WORMS are difficult to expel, and are the cause of much constitutional disturbance. For the Tapeworm there is no better remedy than the Extract of Male Fern in doses of 10 to 60 drops, taken fasting, and this should be repeated until the head of the worm has been expelled.

Thread Worms are common to children, and are indicated by the grinding of the teeth, disturbed sleep, picking of the nose, itching of the fundament, and an irregular appetite. For this kind of worm a dose of Santonine may be given each alternate night, followed by a brisk cathartic medicine. An injection of Quassia is a good remedy when infesting the lower intestine. The health must be well maintained with Chemical Food or other suitable tonic.

POISONS AND THEIR ANTIDOTES.

In all cases of poisoning procure medical aid at once. In the interval a little mustard in a cup of tepid water should be given as an emetic, or Ipecacuanha Powder or wine in full doses will be less disagreeable if at hand; follow either emetic with large draughts of tepid water. If the patient cannot swallow, nothing must be given by the mouth in consequence of the serious risk of it finding its way into the breathing passages.

POULTICES.

BREAD POULTICE is useless from a practical point of view.

LINSEED MEAL is prepared by pouring boiling water into a scalded basin, add gradually the best crushed linseed—enough to make a moderately thick paste—stir quickly and spread on soft linen, or a pocket handkerchief, and apply as warm as it can be borne. It is best to place a layer of muslin between the skin and poultice.

MUSTARD POULTICE is prepared by mixing the best mustard into a paste with a sufficiency of tepid water, then adding hot crushed linseed previously mixed, according to the above directions. It should not be put in contact with the skin, but a piece of muslin should intervene. Allow it to remain on about twenty minutes.

POPPY OR CAMOMILE FLOWER FOMENTATION.—Break up two or three poppy heads and boil them in two pints of water until the quantity is reduced to one pint, strain and soak the flannel in the boiling fluid. Two ounces of Camomile Flowers may be used instead of three poppy heads, and one pint of boiling water; infuse them for ten minutes and apply as before.

TURPENTINE STUPE.—Wring a piece of flannel out of boiling water, spread it out and quickly sprinkle on the surface about a wine glass of Turpentine, again wring it to distribute the Turpentine, and apply as hot as possible, covering with waterproof or jaconet. This is liable to blister if allowed to remain too long.

HINTS FOR THE SICK ROOM.

USEFUL HINTS.—Always read the directions on the label before administering Medicines.

The dose should always be measured in a graduated medicine glass, spoons are unreliable.

A Teaspoonful should equal 60 drops.

A Dessert spoonful should equal two teaspoonfuls.

Medicines for Internal use and Liniments or Lotions should never be kept near each other.

Medicines should always be shaken before used, and when being poured out the label side ought always to be uppermost.

Medicine glasses should always be washed after each dose.

A crust of bread is most useful for removing the taste of nauseous medicines.

Medicines should never be given immediately after or before meals, unless specially ordered; the interval midway between meals is best.

Apertient medicines are best taken at night with the exception of all saline aperients and mineral waters, which should always be taken first thing in the morning.

BATHS (VARIOUS).—

Hot Baths should range from 98 degree to 106 degree Fahrenheit. Time 10 minutes.

Warm Baths should range from 90 degrees to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Time 15 minutes.

Tepid Bath should range from 80 degrees to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Time 15 minutes.

Invalids, Aged Persons, or people liable to Fits should not bathe in the absence of an attendant.

Mustard Baths for feet should have two ounces of Mustard, and temperature should not be less than 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

TO TAKE THE TEMPERATURE OF A PATIENT.—See that the mercury in the index of the thermometer is below the normal, viz., 98.4, or shake it down to this point at least; now wipe out the armpit with a dry towel, and having put the thermometer in position, place the arm across the chest, and allow the thermometer to remain not less than five minutes; wipe the thermometer carefully after use. The temperature may also be taken by placing the thermometer under the tongue and allowing it to remain for three minutes.

FOR THIRST.—The following makes an excellent drink for quenching thirst. Take a dessert spoonful of Cream of Tartar, two teaspoonfuls of Powdered Sugar, and place them in a jug. Pare the rind of a lemon, cut the lemon into thin slices, and add them to the other ingredients. Now add about two pints of boiling water, cover the jug, and allow it to stand till cold, then strain through a fine cloth, when it is ready for use. A little bicarbonate of Soda added before drinking makes a pleasant effervescing draught.

ARROWROOT.—Take a dessertspoonful of Arrowroot and half a pint of milk; put the Arrowroot into a bowl, and a small quantity of milk, and rub to a smooth paste. Now stir in another two tablespoonfuls of milk, and add a teaspoonful of sugar, put the remainder of the milk into a saucepan, and when boiling, pour on the Arrowroot, stirring constantly. This should form a paste of the consistency of thin porridge, and if allowed, the yolk of an egg which has been well whipped may be stirred in, when the Arrowroot has cooled a little,

BARLEY WATER.—Take two ounces of Pearl Barley, and wash it well in several waters. Add a quarter of a lemon (from which the rind has been peeled), and a teaspoonful of sugar. Now pour on about a pint of cold water and boil down to two-thirds, strain and set aside to cool.

BEEF TEA.—Put the pound of beef, cut up, in half a pint of cold water with a little salt, and let it stand for an hour or more. Now strain off the liquid and put it aside. Add to the beef a fresh half pint of cold water, simmer gently for one hour. Strain. Mix the two liquids. Less Beef may be used for weaker beef tea.

EGG FLIP.—Beat up the yolks of two fresh Eggs with a small tablespoonful of powdered sugar, then add eight to twelve tablespoonfuls of water (preferably flavoured with a few drops of Essence of Cinnamon), add, if desirable, four tablespoonfuls of brandy, and stir all thoroughly, when it is ready for use. Very light and sustaining.

INVALID GRUEL.—Mix one tablespoonful of Patent Groats in a basin with two teaspoonfuls of cold water, beat to a smooth paste; stir in one pint of boiling water, and boil for ten minutes. Add a pinch of salt, and sweeten to taste.

Half a pint of milk may be used instead of half a pint of boiling water, and if the patient is not feverish, a tablespoonful or two of Brandy or Rum may be added.

LINSEED TEA.—Take one ounce each of sugar and whole Linseed, add four teaspoonfuls of Lemon Juice, and half an ounce of Liquorice. Place this mixture in a jug, and pour two pints of boiling water over it; allow it to stand for four hours in a hot place, when it is ready for use. It should not be given to patients who are taking Iron.

Paris Exhibition, British Awards

Baby-Skin.

NO fine lady or grown-up girl has a skin like a baby's—not quite.

Most soaps but PEARS' have alkali in them.

Babies get washed with these soaps ; their tender skins are made rough and red and sore ; and yet the force of nature resists ; there is no skin like the velvety baby-skin.

Haven't you seen a girl or woman catch sight of a dainty baby and break into smiles all over her face ? and, if publicity does not forbid, you have seen her rush to the little stranger, seize his hands and toes and go into raptures over the pink and softness !

That's the charm of baby-skin ; not of the baby—nobody goes for a pimply baby.

Every woman whose place in the world permits, and every man (though men are not supposed to tell it) wants, in proper measure, a baby-skin. Even the college athlete is not exempt. Let them use PEARS' SOAP, which is nothing but soap ; pure soap ! which is nothing but PEARS'.

We all have a baby-skin, unless it is eaten away by alkali. Nothing but soap will find it. It may be well disguised—PEARS' SOAP will find it.

Good Complexion !

NOTHING adds so much to personal attractions as a bright, clear complexion. Without it the handsomest features but coldly impress us, whilst with it the plainest become warmly attractive ; and yet there is no advantage so easily secured. The regular use of a properly prepared Soap is one of the chief means ; but people generally have not the requisite knowledge of the manufacture of Soap to guide them to a proper selection, so a pretty box, a pretty colour, or an agreeable perfume too frequently outweighs the more important consideration, viz. : the Composition of the Soap itself, and thus many a good complexion is spoiled which would be enhanced by proper care.

To persons whose skin is delicate or sensitive to changes in the weather, winter or summer, PEARS' SOAP is invaluable, as, on account of its emollient, non-irritant character, Redness, Roughness and Chapping are prevented, and a clear appearance and soft velvety condition maintained, and a good, healthful and attractive complexion ensured. Its agreeable and lasting perfume, beautiful appearance, and soothing properties, commend it as the greatest luxury and most elegant adjunct to the toilet.
